

Engaging Young Parents

A one-day training course

23 April (Birmingham)

22 June (London)

This one-day training course is for anyone who is working with young parents and is expected to engage their clients to participate in education or parenting programmes.

Included in the registration fee is attendance at a one-day training course, all materials, and a resource pack for use with families and follow-up support.

By the end of the programme participants will have experienced:

- explanation of engagement
- understanding of the specific needs of young parents
- advice on locating young parents
- options for young parents
- resistance to participation and motivating teens
- accessing Care to Learn and Young Parent Groups,
- partnership Working and Resource Share

Fees:

Statutory organisations and private companies: £187

Individuals and small voluntary organisations: £167

Busymummy standard cancellation charges apply.

More Information:

For further information: contact the Course Administrator Natasha Mattingly for further details, or to book a place. You can also call on 01843 598612.